THE DAY IN THE COURT

The Decisions of a Just Judge.

UNFORTUNATES SENTENCED

Wilcox's Rare Discretion in Making the Penalty Fit the Crime.

A large and cosmopolitan audience filled the Police Court yesterday morning. A deputation from Iwilei was there to watch the case wherein two of the residents were concerned. The Portuguese aristocracy came down in a body from the slopes of Punchbowl to reveal in anticipated spicy details of a batch of assault cases. A goodly number of the town sports were also in evidence, brought thither by the enforced presence of some of their guild who had gone astray in the matter of jackpots. The presence of a number of ladies lent a festive air to the proceedings.

There were thirty-nine cases on the calendar included in which number were eleven charges of drunkenness, ten of assault and battery and seven of gambling.

Two dollars and costs flowed in pretty frequently until Katie arrived on the scene and then the record was broken. Katie, who is said to have partaken too liberally of the distilled root of the ti plant made eyes at the judge and it was all off. She departed in peace.

Andy Brown of bibulous renown, who is creditably filling the place of the most regular Monday morning patron of the halls of justice, recently left vacant by the retirement of "Monday" crews into the country, was next invited to state his condition last Saturday night.

Mr. Brown pleaded guilty with his back turned to the judge, but his honor requested the privilege of being allowed to look upon his old friend's face again and defendant right about faced. Four dollars and costs was the amount of the fine.

Williams, another drunk, no sooner stood up in the dock than he attracted the attention of the bench.

"Your name isn't Williams, what was it last time?" interrogated Judge Wilcox.

"Gomez," said Williams, and he also paid the usual fine.

Six poker players who were interrupted in the middle of a little game lined up but made no bluff. After regarding them for some time in astonishment his honor said:

"It is so rarely that white men are arrested for gambling that I confess I am taken aback. Why the last charge of a similar nature against a white man lingers not in the human memory?"

Judge Wilcox raised the party $10 apiece and none of them stayed with him, that is after they had squared accounts with the court officer. One man tendered five blue chips in part payment but his proposition was met with the ridicule it deserved.

Kikila, whose weakness is "craps," also lost $10 to the judge who seemed to be playing in rare luck.

Charlie and Bill, profanity experts, were ingeniously amusing.

"I didn't say no bad words," said the former, "as a matter of fact I didn't say nothing but 'you'."

Hanrahan testified differently, he swore that both men were drunk and used words that were lurid and large and quoted them.

"If those expressions were used," said his honor, "their application was inappropriate and impossible."

"I was not under the influence of liquor, as the officer states, I never drink liquor, as a matter of fact, only beer," remarked Charlie.

Judge Wilcox asked when the arrests were made, and on being told Sunday night, expressed surprise, saying that he had understood that it was impossible to procure a drink in Honolulu on the Sabbath.

Charlie and Bill then cross-examined each other as to whether pet names were exchanged. Charlie denied this, and Bill admitted that he was too drunk to remember; he said that if he had used the expression alleged it was foreign to his recollection.

"If every person who says 'were' were to be fined ten cents there would be no need of taxes," remarked his honor. "Go away Charlie and stop in the old ship!" he concluded.

Bill, when he heard Hanrahan say that it took three men to search him, flourished two dollars tied up in a handkerchief, exclaiming, "You couldn't have searched me very badly."

Judge Wilcox's eagle eye took heed of this, and he relieved him of his hidden talent.

Nellie Nicholas said she told her husband not to drink, and he choked her, so she had him arrested. Mr. Nicholas said he was too drunk to remember. First he drank wine, and then swipes, until finally all became a blank.

Judge Wilcox fined him $2 and costs, adding that if he kept on choking his wife she would finally run away from him, and then he would want the judge to bring her back.

Hanana, who had decorated his better half with an awful eye, and another less awful, was the third in succession to plead that he was too drunk to remember. It didn't go, however, and the eyes had it.

Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth said that when complainant came to the station she was sober and bleeding at the mouth, nose and left eye. Defendant was also sober.

"There is no excuse for a man who gets drunk and commits a crime," said his honor. "People who get drunk can't remember things we send to the country for a time, where the unwanted quietness and lack of worry usually have an invigorating effect upon the memory. I sentence you to one month's imprisonment."

Gussman disturbed the serenity of the Kakaako night, and forfeited $2 and costs for his intemperance.

"I saw six drunks down that way yesterday," reflected the judge, "and the police appear to have corraled one of them."

Candido, yet another "too drunk to remember," was committed to the Circuit Court for assault with a jack-knife.

Mino Chokai and Washino Saki, denizens of Iwilei, were released by virtue of a nolle prosequi, and Takahasha was discharged on account of the inability of the prosecution to make out a case against him.

DID TIDAL WAVE STRIKE NOME?

But for an Island the City
Might Have Disappeared.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—The generally accepted opinion at Nome is that the recent storm and deluge was nothing more or less than a tidal wave, which, had it not been for the protection afforded by St. Lawrence Island, would have swept the town out of sight and another horror similar to the one at Galveston would have been recorded.

Captain C. B. Owens, of the schooner Zenith, which was anchored about three miles out from the beach and was driven on shore by the waves, confirms this belief. He says:

"We were anchored in nine fathoms of water on the 13th. Inside of two hours there was ten and a half fathoms of water under us. The anchor did not lift, and I am of the opinion that the rise was due to a tidal wave, which, had it not been for the friendly shelter of St. Lawrence Island, would have swept over Nome and blotted it out of existence. The island served as a break-water and impeded the progress of the immense wave of water."

TELEPHONE STRIKE HAS BEEN SETTLED

The telephone strike as far as the male operators are concerned has been settled amicably. The demand of the men that the company increase their wages $5 a month was acceded to and the men say there is nothing more for them to ask. They are at work and the walkout of last week which threatened to put the telephone system in a piliika has after all made only a temporary inconvenience to the subscribers.

Yesterday forenoon the directors of the company held a meeting and the strike was thoroughly discussed. The demand of the male operators was met without much opposition and goes into effect at once.

The "hello" girls who first struck are still out. In fact they are shut out for the company is filling up the gaps at the switchboard with new girls. Two of the original strikers have been taken back by the company and are at work with the "scabs" as their striking sisters term them.

Reynolds Goes to Kalaupapa.

Superintendent C. B. Reynolds of the Leper Settlement left last evening on the Lehua to visit the settlement. He expects to be absent about two weeks.

Another Report on Doan's Backache Kidney Pills.

If your poor back still aches, if you toss all night racked in pain, if you cannot bend over or straighten up,

Depend upon it, it's your kidneys. And kidney disorder rarely leaves of its own accord.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are a good kidney medicine.

This is how they fulfilled it with a Honolulu citizen:

Mr. A. J. Cahill, of Fort street, this city, night watchman in the employ of Messrs. T. H. Davies & Co., Ltd., says: "Whilst a young man I was a sailor and at one time worked for the Inter Island service. I was, however, obliged to give up sea life on account of severe suffering from my back and kidneys. For this I had tried various remedies, but the one which restored me to health was Doan's Backache Kidney Pills—procured at Hollister's Drug Store. They relieved me completely after years of suffering. If any one desires further particulars he may apply to me. I am to be found at Van Dorn's Ship Chandlery, Fort street."

You should get the same medicine which helped Mr. Cahill. See that the full name DOAN'S BACKACHE KIDNEY PILLS is on the wrapper and refuse any imitation.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

COUNCIL'S DOINGS ARE KEPT SECRET

Only two Unimportant Notes
Given out for the Public's Information

The proceedings at the Governor's council yesterday were of such a nature as to demand great secrecy apparently, for although the council was in session most of the morning, when the request was made for information of its transactions from the Governor's secretary, but two small items, one relating to the completion of the road around Diamond Head, which was published in the Advertiser last week, and another relating to a very unimportant license matter, were divulged.

As given out by the secretary Mr. McCandless was reported to have stated to the Council that work would begin on the new road as soon as possible and that it would begin at the mauka end so as to open connection with the road through Kaimuki as soon as possible, so that when the work was going on on the end next to Waikiki residents beyond Diamond Head would be able to use the old road.

A resolution was also passed by the Council that hereafter no dealer's licenses for the sale of liquor should be granted to any one occupying a store where merchandise was sold or should be given to any one occupying a room opening into a room where liquor was sold. This action was the result of the application of H. Hamano for a license for the Patzig block.

Fears for the Campana.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Many hours overdue is the Cunard line steamship Campana. She should have arrived here early yesterday morning. Instead, she had not been sighted up to 1 o'clock this morning. Naturally there is much speculation over the delay and the usual rumors of accident and disaster floated through shipping circles.

Of course, there is no tangible fact on which to base these tales of disaster. Ordinarily the Campana is about twelve hours ahead of the American liner in reaching the company's piers, but the St. Louis came into port and landed her passengers, cabin and steerage, yesterday, while friends of the cabin passengers of the Campana were at the barge office awaiting the sighting of that vessel.

Weak Lungs

When your throat and lungs are perfectly healthy you needn't worry about the germs of consumption. They don't attack healthy people. It's the weak, debilitated, inflamed membranes that are first affected. Hard coughs and colds weaken your throat and lungs and make consumption more easy.

If your lungs are weak

is the best remedy you can take. It soothes and heals and gives tone and strength to these delicate membranes. In this way you can prevent consumption. And you can cure it also if you haven't had it too long. Keep taking it until your lungs are strong and your weight restored.
